AES AWARDS PROGRAM

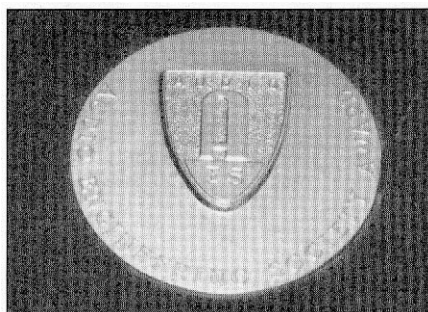

In 1970, when the AES was well into its twenty-third year, the Awards Committee felt that the time had come to have designed for the Society medals representing its three major awards. The first, previously called the John H. Potts Memorial Award, was the Society's Gold Medal Award. The second, established by the Berliner family in 1953 and then known as the Berliner Award, became the Silver Medal Award in honor of audio pioneers Alexander Graham Bell, Emile Berliner, and Thomas Alva Edison. The third, the coveted Audio Engineering Society Award, began as a laminated plaque and became a bronze medal. This award was made possible through an endowment of the late C. J. LeBel, a founder and the first president of the Society.

In 1991, the Awards Committee added a fourth medal, called the Distinguished Service Medal, which is given in recognition of extraordinary service to the Society.

The AES recognizes and honors those who have made outstanding contributions to the audio field in engineering, technology, service, and the arts through its Awards Program. All AES members, worldwide, are eligible for the various awards listed below. Nonmembers of distinction are eligible for honorary membership.

tation and eminence in the science of audio engineering or its allied arts.

FELLOWS: A member who has rendered conspicuous service, or is recognized to have made a valuable contribution to the advancement in or dissemination of the knowledge of audio engineering, or in the promotion of its application in practice.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL AWARD, established by the Society in 1991, is given in recognition of extraordinary service to the Society over a period of years.

THE GOLD MEDAL AWARD, established by the Society in 1971, is given in recognition of outstanding achievements, sustained over a period of years, in the field of audio engineering.

THE SILVER MEDAL AWARD, established by the Society in 1971, in honor of audio pioneers Alexander Graham Bell, Emile Berliner, and Thomas A. Edison, is given in recognition of outstanding development or achievement in the field of audio engineering.

THE BRONZE MEDAL AWARD is given annually to a person who has helped significantly in the advancement of the Society.

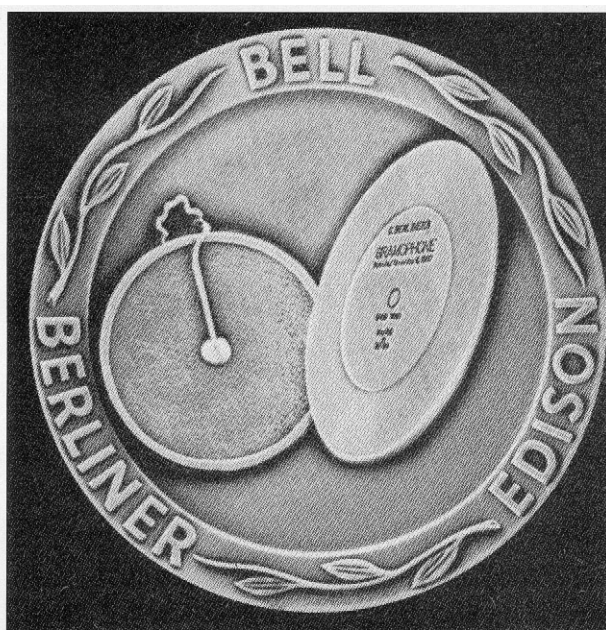

CITATIONS are given in recognition of services or accomplishments that do not fit into any of the above categories.

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS AWARD is often given to past convention and conference chairmen in recognition of their contribution to the Society. It is also given to AES sections officers for outstanding long-term contributions.

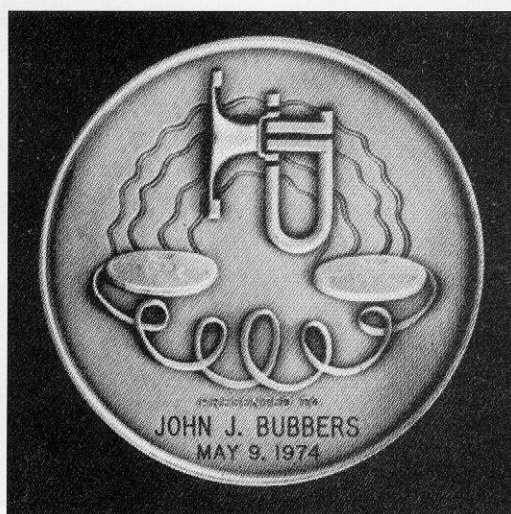

THE PUBLICATIONS AWARD is given each year, alternately, to an author under 35 years of age and to an author regardless of age for the outstanding paper published in the Journal of the Audio Engineering Society during the previous two years.
